Research Experience

- The University of Texas at Dallas – Graduate Research Assistant Aug. 2024 – Present
Conduct research on multimodal and egocentric AI, with current work in streaming procedural understanding, online error detection, and intent-conditioned affordance grounding.
- AT&T – Research Scientist Intern May 2026 – Aug. 2026
Developed a physics-guided AI framework for Passive Intermodulation (PIM) detection and diagnosis in cellular networks. Combined spectrum-based ML, physics-driven candidate generation, and agentic reasoning to identify likely intermodulation orders and carrier combinations. Built a synthetic benchmark and research prototype, improving Top-1 diagnosis accuracy from 20.9% to 65.2%, and presented the work internally at AT&T.

Teaching Experience & Development

- The University of Texas at Dallas – Instructor of Record Aug. 2026 – Dec. 2026
ECS 1100: Introduction to Engineering and Computer Science (~30 students). Collaboratively designed course content, in-class activities, assignments, and assessment rubrics as part of the instructional team, and independently delivered weekly instruction for my assigned section. Topics included responsible AI, professional communication, career preparation, and engineering decision-making; responsibilities also included grading, office hours, and student communication.
- The University of Texas at Dallas – Teaching Assistant Jan. 2024 – Dec. 2024 Operating Systems. Held office hours, managed Piazza-based student support, and graded assignments, exams, and programming projects. Mentored students on course projects and coordinated student project presentations.
- The University of Texas at Dallas – Teaching Assistant Aug. 2023 – Dec. 2023
Discrete Mathematics. Held office hours, graded assignments and exams, and provided ongoing student support through Piazza.
- The University of Texas at Dallas – Graduate Teaching Certificate 2025
Center for Teaching and Learning. Completed evidence-based teaching coursework and workshops, a faculty observation of my own teaching, and original pedagogical work: full course syllabi for Discrete Mathematics and Data Structures and Algorithms Laboratory, designed with backward design and learning outcomes aligned to Bloom’s taxonomy.

- The University of Texas at Dallas – Learning to Teach in Engineering Jan. 2025 – May 2025
Graduate course on evidence-based STEM teaching, built around Felder & Brent, Teaching and Learning STEM: A Practical Guide. Observed a large-enrollment Discrete Mathematics lecture and a Digital Systems laboratory, and interviewed each instructor about their course design.

Student Mentoring

- Abdullah Khajamohideen – Undergraduate Researcher May 2026 – Aug. 2026
Mentored research on EgoAffordance: Egocentric Part Affordance for Everyday Object Interaction. Guided dataset development, semantic part and affordance annotation, benchmark design, and preliminary model evaluation. The project resulted in a research poster through the Undergraduate Research Apprenticeship Program (URAP).
- Sanskriti Aripineni – Undergraduate Researcher May 2025 – Aug. 2025
Co-mentored research on Real-Time Egocentric Gaze Estimation, serving as the primary day-to-day research mentor. Guided the development and evaluation of causal video models for online gaze prediction, including causal convolution and attention experiments. The project resulted in a research poster through the Undergraduate Research Apprenticeship Program (URAP).
- Kevin Wang & Subre Abdoul Moktar – Undergraduate Researchers Jan. 2024 – Aug. 2024
Mentored a two-student undergraduate research team on uncertainty estimation for large language models, from project formulation through experimentation, analysis, and paper development. Guided the evaluation of aleatoric and epistemic uncertainty across in-distribution and out-of-distribution question-answering tasks. The work resulted in a peer-reviewed paper accepted to the 3rd Workshop on Uncertainty Reasoning and Quantification in Decision Making (UDM), held in conjunction with ACM SIGKDD 2024.
